Effective Date: 6/7/2018

We collect certain information through our website, located at cit-net.com (our “Website”). This page (this “Privacy Policy”) lays out our policies and procedures surrounding the collection and handling of any such information that identifies an individual user or that could be used to contact or locate him or her (“Personally Identifiable Information” or “PII”).

This Privacy Policy applies only to our Website. It does not apply to any third-party site or service linked to our Website or recommended or referred by our Website, through our products or services, or by our staff. And it does not apply to any other website, product, or service operated by our company, or to any of our offline activities.

A. PII We Collect

We collect the following PII from Website visitors: name, business name, address, e-mail address, and telephone number.

We also use “cookies” to collect certain information from all visitors, including Web visitors who don’t voluntarily provide information on our Website. A cookie is a string of data our system sends to your computer and then uses to identify your computer when you return to our Website. Cookies give us usage data, like how often you visit, where you go at the site, and what you do. We utilize Google Analytics to view compiled statistical data on Website visitors.

B. Our Use of PII

We use your PII to communicate with you about products and services that we offer, as well as about hosted events you have registered for or that we may be hosting in the future. We also use that information to the extent necessary to prevent imminent harm to persons or property.

We use information gained through cookies to view compiled statistical information about the use of our Website, such as the time users spend at the site and the pages they visit most often. We utilize Google Analytics to view this compiled statistical data. Those statistics do not include PII.

C. Protection of PII

We employ the following data security tools to protect PII: encrypted communication systems, malicious activity detection software and systems, as well as user-based tools, such as dual factor authentication and password management software. Unfortunately, even with these measures, we cannot guarantee the security of PII. By using our Website, you acknowledge and agree that we make no such guarantee, and that you use our Website at your own risk.

D. Contractor and Other Third-Party Access to PII

We give certain independent contractors access to PII collected from the Website. Contractors assist us with marketing, data management, event coordination, and sales. We also may disclose PII to attorneys, collection agencies, or law enforcement authorities to address potential Acceptable Use Policy (“AUP”) violations, other contract violations, or illegal behavior. And we disclose any information demanded in a court order or otherwise required by law or to prevent imminent harm to persons or property. Finally, we may share PII in connection with a corporate transaction, like a merger or sale of our company, a proposed merger or acquisition, or a sale of all or substantially all of our assets, or a sale of our product or service line, or a bankruptcy. All sharing of PII is in accordance with any confidentiality agreements we have in place at the time of the disclosure.

As noted above, we view Website usage statistics compiled from data collected through cookies. We view this compiled statistical data via Google Analytics. We may publish those statistics or share them with third parties, but they don't include PII.

Except as set forth in this Privacy Policy, we do not share PII with third parties.
